THOUSANDS PAY TOKEN OF RESPECT TO MEMORY COMMODORE BURGOYNE

MANY BEAUTIFUL FLORAL TRIBUTES ARE PRESENTED

FUNERAL THE LARGEST EVER
HELD IN DAYTONA—ELKS CON-DUCTED SERVICE AT HOUSE—
MASON'S AT GRAVE.

The high esteem and regard in which Commodore C. G. Burgoyne was held by the residents of Daytona and vicinity was plainly evidenced by the large attendance this afternoon at the funeral services and the many beautiful floral tributes from friends and admirers of Daytona's great benefactor and leading citizen, whose sudden death late Friday afternoon was a shock to all who knew him and to the public generally to whom he was known through his generous gifts to the city. Many children were included among the mourners, Commodore Burgoyne having been fond of and very popular with the young people.

The services, held at the late residence of Commodore Burgoyne on North Beach street, were in charge of Daytona Lodge B. P. O. Elks, of which the commodore was a well beloved member, as he was also of Halifax Lodge F. & A. M., which conducted the service at the grave.

Commodore Burgoyne was a veteran of the Civil war and member of the Grand Army of the Republic and resident members of the G. A. R., and visitors in the city and vicinity attended the funeral services.

The musicians of the Saracina band joined the Elks at the Elk home and accompanied them to the Burgoyne residence.

The handsome, solid bronze casket containing all that was mortal of Commodore Burgoyne occupied a position on the north porch, just beyond the music room where the commodore had passed many pleasant hours in the enjoyment of his magnificent pipe organ and other musical instruments, music appealing strongly to him. A plate on the casket bore the simple inscription, "Charles G. Burgoyne, 1847-1916." The casket, when committed to the ground, was enclosed in a solid mahogany box, which was deposited in a concrete vault in the commodore's lot in Pinewood cemetery.

Following the beautiful Elk ceremony at 2:30 o'clock at the handsome home which Commodore Burgoyne had occupied for a number of years on North Beach street, his mortal remains were borne to Pinewood cemetery, Daytona Beach, the long funeral cortege passing over the concrete bridge to the peninsula and the cemetery where the interment was made, the impressive funeral service of the Masonic order concluding the ceremonies at the grave.

The honorary pall bearers were L. Thompson, Theodore Sengstack, E. T. Conrad, Geo. H. Clark, E. W. Greene, P. D. Spring, F. M. Rowe, Dr. F. H. Houghton, F. W. Pope and Geo. H. Ludwig and the active pall bearers were F. N. Conrad, F. J. Niver, T. E. Fitzgerald, M. Sholtz, L. H. Rowe, Henry T. Titus, W. M. Hankins and Chris Gougerty.

It was Commodore Burgoyne's desire that when he received the final summons his remains should be buried in the land he loved so well and with this in view he, several years ago, purchased a lot in Pinewood cemetery.

Thousands Viewed Remains at Casino.

The body of the beloved commodore lay in state in the Casino Burgoyne from 3:30 to 5:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon and more than 6,000 people visited the casino to look for the last time upon the face of the man who had done so much for Daytona and whose many private acts of charity and kindness will never be known.

The handsome casket occupied a place in the alcove, midway of the east side of the building and the people were admitted at the south door of the casino, passed northward through the building and left the casino by the north entrance. The alcove was banked with palm leaves and potted plants and ferns and other greenery and there was a profusion of flowers, including many special pieces, among them a beautiful floral lyre from the members of Saracina's Virtuoso Concert band, handsome floral pieces from the local Masonic lodge, a beautiful floral chair from the Elks' lodge, and a most magnificent wreath of lilies-of-the-valley from the Commercial club.

As the great crowd silently passed through the big building in single file to view for the last time the features of Daytona's great benefactor and foremost citizen, who styled himself as "one who loved his fellow man," and demonstrated it in word and deed, many eyes were dimmed with tears and the thought was general that his death was indeed a sad ending to what had been an exceptionally gay and brilliant winter season.

A committee of the Elks' lodge was in charge at the casino and directed the movement of the great crowd that visited the building during the time from 3:30 to 5:00 o'clock.

In accordance with the proclamation issued by Mayor C. M. Bingham all the stores and other places of business were closed this afternoon from 2:00 until 5:00 o'clock and all flags in the city were placed at half-mast in respect to the late Commodore Burgoyne.

Schools Adopt Resolutions.
The Daytona public schools this morning adopted the following tribute of respect:

"Whereas, the Almighty God, the giver of every good and of every perfect gift, has in His infinite wisdom taken from among us our most beloved citizen and friend, Charles G. Burgoyne,

"And, whereas, Mr. Burgoyne was most highly esteemed, honored, respected and loved by the faculty and student body of the Daytona public

AMERICANS PREPARING FOR ANY EVENTUALITIES IN MEXICAN SITUATION

BELIEVED THAT A GENERAL UPRISING
AGAINST THE UNITED STATES IS IMMINENT BY MEXICAN PEOPLE.

(By International News Service.)

EL PASO, April 3.—Villa has apparently slipped out of the reach of the American forces and is today somewhere in the treacherous Sierra Madre mountains which saw his birth and the beginning of his bloody career. It may take months for the Americans to again find him. In the meantime ominous silence is settling over northern Mexico and frontiersmen express the fear that it means the beginning of a general uprising against Americans.

United States secret agents bring news that ten thousand Carranzaistas are mobilizing within twenty miles of the boundary of Chihuahua. At the same time word comes that the El Oso battle was an official Mexican fake and there is still no explanation of the disappearance of General Herrera and Colonel Cano with 4,500 Carranza cavalry.

American authorities are preparing for any eventualities.

DUNKIRK BOMBARDED BY ZEPPELIN.

PARIS, April 3.—Dunkirk was bombarded by a Zeppelin airship last night. Twelve civilians were killed, but the military damage was insignificant.

ANOTHER BRITISHER SUNK.

LONDON, April 3.—The British ship, Achilles, has been torpedoed and sunk without warning in the North sea. Four sailors are missing.

ZEPPELINS INFLICT INDUSTRIAL DAMAGE.

BERLIN, April 3.—Heavy damage was inflicted on British industrial plants on the south bank of the River Tees and in Middleborough and Sunderland by Zeppelins Friday night. All the airships returned safely.

PROJECT TO BUILD PARK IN MEMORY OF MAN BE- LOVED BY DAYTONIANS

NEW FERRY WILL BE READY AUG. 1

FOUR TRACKS IN THE BIG BOAT
WHICH WILL SUPPLEMENT WORK OF PRESENT BOAT—TO CARRY 30 LOADED CARS.

The new railroad ferry steamer of the Florida East Coast railway, which will be operated between Key West and Havana, will be ready by August 1, next. It will be a duplicate of the steamer Henry M. Flagler, which was placed in service on the same route on January 2, 1915, and has been busy handling loaded freight cars between the United States and Cuba over 100 miles of sea. Increase of traffic has made necessary another ferryboat, and its completion will be hastened. It will be 360 feet long and fifty-seven feet wide on the car deck, the length "between perpendiculars," as the shipbuilders say, being 349 feet, and the molded depth twenty-two feet. Her dead-weight capacity with a draft of fifteen feet is 2,500 tons, and her speed when loaded is thirteen knots per hour. The steamer will accommodate thirty of the largest refrigerator cars on four standard-gauge tracks. There are also three cargo holds, which may be loaded either from the cars or through ports at the sides of the vessel, which is equipped with electric machinery for handling cargo. The dry cargo capacity is about 3,000 tons. The boat is furnished with watertight compartments, ten of them for ballast, with a water capacity of 3,000 tons. Pumps and pipes are provided to fill or to empty them, and one of the forward ballast tanks can be used to carry molasses if desired. The William Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Building company, of Philadelphia, were the builders, from plans made by M. C. Furstenau, consulting naval architect for the railway.

The establishment of the Key West-Havana railroad ferry was done in fulfillment of the plans of the late Henry M. Flagler, and it has proved fully as successful as he believed it would be. It takes a loaded steamer eight hours to make the run from dock to dock and great savings in transportation are accomplished by this ferrying of loaded cars instead of shipping freight by steamer alone, which would involve handling from cars to boat and from boat to cars at each end of the route.—Tampa Times.

TAX OF ONLY ONE MILL WILL PAY FOR BIG IMPROVEMENT

"BURGOYNE PARK" WOULD BE
FITTING TESTIMONIAL TO MEM-ORY OF LATE COMMODORE, WHO DID SO MUCH FOR DAYTONA.

As a fitting testimonial to the memory of Daytona's great benefactor, the late Commodore Charles G. Burgoyne, it is proposed that a park to be known as Burgoyne Park be built.

The plan to fill in the city island has been under contemplation by the city commissioners for some time, and at a meeting of the Commercial Club held Saturday evening the matter was discussed from every angle and resolutions were adopted with a view to getting the project under way.

The resolutions as adopted by the Commercial Club were as follows:

"Whereas, The Commercial Club of Daytona is informed that it is the desire and intention of the Commissioners of the City of Daytona to provide for the enlarging of the present City Island to a point on the north side of Magnolia avenue, by issuing bonds or otherwise, and whereas, it appears to the Commercial Club that some fitting tribute to the memory of C. G. Burgoyne should be established by the City of Daytona, and, whereas, the improvement of the water front was a project in which Mr. Burgoyne was at all times deeply interested and to which he has contributed liberally, now therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Commercial Club does most heartily approve such project and would suggest that the park so created be named 'Burgoyne Park' and that a committee be appointed from this body to confer with the City Commissioners in reference to the furtherance of the project and that a committee be appointed to solicit and receive subscriptions for the erection in said park of a suitable monument or statue, to the memory of C. G. Burgoyne."

The plan is to fill in around the City Island to the mainland from the south side of Orange avenue to the north side of Magnolia avenue. A wall would be built around the enlarged island, a drive constructed around it, and a new city hall built.

The park, after being created would be known as Burgoyne Park. The plan as outlined by the Commercial Club provides that a fund be raised by popular subscription for the purpose of erecting a statue in the park in memory of the late commodore.

Burgoyne Park, as outlined, would not only give the people of Daytona an opportunity to show their appreciation of what the great benefactor has done for Daytona, but it would as the same time give the city a needed improvement.

Estimates have already been made on the cost of the improvement and a bond issue of $50,000 has been suggested to complete the work. A tax of only one mill for 20 years would provide the interest and pay off the bond issue at maturity.

Let every true Daytonian put his shoulder to the wheel and get the project under way.

THE WEATHER

For Florida fair tonight and Tuesday; slightly cooler in northwest portion tonight; moderate southwest and west winds.

Just a Delicate Hint.

Allen, aged five, was passing the afternoon with his aunt in the suburbs, and after he had been at play for a time he said: "Aunt Mary, mamma said I wasn't to ask you for a piece of pie, but she didn't tell me not to take it if you offered it to me."

Unlighted Stars.

It is reasonable to assume that the number of stars in space having a temperature so low that their radiations do not affect our eyes or photographic plates is extremely large. That these invisible stars are far more numerous than the luminous stars is suggested by Mr. F. A. Lindemann, who attempts a rough calculation of their relative number, based on the assumption that new stars (novae) are due to collisions. He concludes that there are about four thousand times as many dark stars as bright ones.

Efforts Not Appreciated.

Betsy Jane had been blessed with a baby sister, which was as satisfactory as could be for a time. The baby was a nice one, and Betsy did not say a word against her, even if baby did have a pug nose. As Betsy grew older and could be trusted with the baby, she was gradually shifted to duty as day nurse. This interfered with her arrangements, and was not so satisfactory.

One afternoon Betsy's mother heard the baby crying more lustily than usual. She wondered if Betsy Jane had deserted her charge. Rushing into the yard, she found Betsy waving at a girl in the next square.

"Push the gocat, Betsy Jane, and keep the baby quiet," admonished the mother.

"Push nothing," exclaimed Betsy Jane, resuming her task. "I'm tired of pushing. She doesn't appreciate anything!"

The Kansas Cyclone

They never have to ask him if he needs a bigger force; They don't nag him for estimates of men and guns and horse; They don't inquire if he would like to have some one explain The methods planned in Washington for making a campaign. But when the flag's insulted and there's any one to "get" They merely say, "Go on the job!" and Funston says, "You bet."

He doesn't ask for seasoned troops; he takes 'em as they come. He knows that they'll keep up with him, and that is going some; He doesn't need the books that treat of fighting as an art; He doesn't bone on tactics much; he knows 'em all by heart. But when they warn him solemnly that there will be a fight, And not an easy one at that, he grins and says, "All right."

ENGLAND PLANS TO UNLOAD GOLF BALLS ON AMERICA

Patent Expiring In April May Let Bars Down to Importers.

Vice Consul Hamilton C. Claborne, who represents the United States at Swansea, Wales, has warned the state department that British manufacturers are laying in a supply of ammunition in the form of golf balls with which they intend to bombard the United States after April 11, 1916. On that date the Haskell patent for the manufacture of golf balls in the United States expires.

In making his prediction of the golf ball bombardment which will then be undertaken unless congress prohibits the dumping of golf balls as well as dyestuffs, Vice Consul Claborne says the British manufacturers hope by invading the American market to make up the losses incurred through the falling off of golf in the British isles on account of the war. He quotes from the London Daily Mail as follows:

"British golf ball manufacturers, hard hit by the war, are to make a determined effort to capture the American market. The attempt is made possible by the expiration on April 11 of the Haskell patent, under which golf balls are manufactured in the United States. The Haskell patent, which killed the gutty ball, was not recognized by the English law courts, but was declared valid in America, thus keeping the ever improving British balls out of that country."

"After April 11 the market will be open, subject to the payment of a duty of 10 per cent—about 6 cents a ball. Cheaper labor here will compensate for that, and ten leading British firms are sending representatives to the United States or appointing agents to prepare the way for the invasion."

NEW PLAN FOR RELIEF.

"Buy a Yard of Cloth" Day Is Planned For Belgian Funds.

"Buy a yard of cloth days" have been designated by more than fifty governors and mayors throughout the country to aid state committees of the commission for relief in Belgium in their efforts to obtain clothing for the destitute in Belgium and northern France. The purpose of the proclamations is to concentrate the minds of merchants and the public upon sales of cloth for the Belgians.

The commission announced that it already had purchased and shipped cloth from which its textile experts estimate the Belgians will be able to fashion 777,850 garments.

Why Musical Comedies Fail.

The decline of musical comedy is due to new styles in women's dress, which make it unnecessary to attend a theater to see a show, says a Kansas City manager.

LONG DISTANCES ARMY MUST COVER.

Some idea of what it means to patrol the Mexican border and the distances that must be covered in an invasion of Mexico is gained in the accompanying table. Of course an army traveling along the easiest routes would in some instances cover about twice as many miles as the distances given below.

From the eastern to the western end of the Mexican border the straight line distances are:

Miles.
From Brownsville to Laredo..... 225
From Laredo to Del Rio..... 120
From Del Rio to El Paso..... 350
From El Paso to Bisbee..... 225
From Bisbee to Yuma..... 300

Starting from El Paso the invading Americans would cover the following distances to Mexico City:

Miles.
El Paso to Chihuahua (by rail)..... 472
Chihuahua to Torreon (by rail)..... 735
Torreon to Zacatecas (straight line)..... 270
Zacatecas to Mexico City (straight line)..... 385
From Mexico City to Vera Cruz (by rail)..... 254

ELEVEN POUND BOY BABY BORN AT DR. KLOCK'S HOSPITAL

An eleven pound son was born at 2:25 p. m., Sunday, at Dr. Klock's hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. E. Colby Pratt, of Volusia. This is said to be the largest baby ever born at the hospital and his arrival created much interest. Both mother and baby are reported to be doing well. Mr. Pratt is a civil engineer and Mrs. Pratt is a daughter of H. F. Bott, general manager for the Volusia Development company.

Pragmatist's Belief.

The pragmatist believes that we live in a world capable of improvement, but his immediate outlook seems to be upon a pluralistic collection of loose ends, which may perhaps some time be gathered up into a fair embroidery, but of which we have no real certainty and of which we have no pattern. The spiritual idealist, on the other hand, is working upon a remediable, incomplete world, with a clear consciousness that he is striving for an ultimate spiritual unity in which the world will be cleansed and completed. His is an idealism in the making, an idealism which by his own work he can help to realize.

WINTER VISITOR BUYS THE HINSKEY ORANGE GROVE

S. S. Pierson, of Newark, N. Y., who is spending the season at Seabreeze, informed the News Saturday that he had purchased the J. B. Hinskey citrus grove in the hammock lands to the northwest of this city. Though not the largest, this is one of the handsomest groves of this vicinity and Mr. Hinskey has taken great pride in its appearance for many years.

Law on Pies.

A reader wrote to the Arkansas City Traveler, asking what a young man should do when he sat on a custard pie at a picnic. The editor advised him to remain there until the others went home. However, there are those who disagree with the Traveler editor's advice. There are those even who advise throwing the remains of the pie into the lap of the woman who brought it along. Anyone who takes a custard pie on a picnic deserves whatever may happen to her. Custard pie is, or should be, strictly an indoor enterprise. No pie without a substantial top crust should be allowed on a picnic.—Kansas City Star.

HAS UNBOUNDED FAITH IN FUTURE OF DAYTONA

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Pierce, who had been located during the season at 109 Live Oak avenue, departed Saturday for their home in Jamestown, R. I., making the trip from this city to Jacksonville in their car. Mr. Pierce is a great Daytona booster and a strong believer in the future of this whole section. Ever since his introduction to Daytona several years ago he has been buying and selling real estate and he now has a large tract on Ridgewood avenue north of this city which he has been engaged in improving this winter and will next season put upon the market as Ridgewood Park subdivision. Mr. Pierce disposed of a small subdivision on Ridgewood avenue, Holly Hill, this season, acting as his own auctioneer which has been his business for many years. Just prior to leaving he closed out his interests in Brightfield Park on Beach street, Kingston, selling three lots to George Haab and two to Arthur McDonald.

PENNSYLVANIA NEARLY READY

Greatest Dreadnaught Preparing For Builders' Trials.

HAS TWELVE 14 INCH GUNS

German Raiders Now Held at Newport
News Express Highest Admiration of Most Powerful of All American
Battleships—Must Make Twenty-one Knots.

It has been announced by the Newport News Drydock and Steamship Building company that the new superdreadnaught Pennsylvania, which is to be the flagship of the Atlantic fleet and which is 4,000 tons larger than the largest ship of the dreadnaught type ever built for the United States, will leave Newport News for her builders' trials at once. The Pennsylvania is now about 97 per cent completed and if necessary can be made ready for active service within a few weeks. Powerful as are the new superdreadnaughts Oklahoma and Nevada, the new flagship of Admiral Fletcher is superior to those vessels not only in armament, but in armor, for she carries a main battery of twelve fourteen-inch guns as against ten of the same caliber in the main batteries of the Oklahoma and Nevada. Those ships are of 31,000 tons displacement, whereas the Pennsylvania displaces 31,400 tons.

Twenty-one Knots an Hour.
The Pennsylvania's contract calls for a speed of 21 knots, but it is the hope and expectation of her builders that she will exceed that speed by at least a knot. The Oklahoma, which under her contract was required to make 20 knots, exceeded 22 knots in her recent trials off the Maine coast.

A little more than 200 yards from the spot where the Pennsylvania is completing the finishing touches is the German-Dampier liner Appam, captured by a German raider and brought to Newport News as a prize of war by a German crew from the raider. When the Germans got into Newport News the first vessel that they saw was the magnificent new battleship. Lieutenant Berg, the prize commander, and his men did not hesitate to express their admiration for the mighty fighting machine which American naval officers deem to be the equal in battle of any vessel of any vessel of the all big gun class.

An idea of the power of the Pennsylvania may be had by a comparison of her broadsides with those of other first line battleships of the dreadnaught type now in the Atlantic fleet or soon to be added to it. The present fleet flagship, the Wyoming, fires from her main battery of twelve twelve-inch guns a broadside of projectiles that weigh about 10,100 pounds. The New York, the flagship of the First division of the fleet, like the Oklahoma, fires from ten fourteen-inch guns a broadside weighing 15,000, whereas a broadside from the twelve fourteen-inch guns of the Pennsylvania will weigh 18,000 pounds, just nine tons.

Looks Like the Oklahoma.

In appearance the Pennsylvania is much like the ships of the Oklahoma class. Like them, she has a single funnel and has her main battery guns mounted in four turrets. In the Oklahoma the guns are mounted three in two turrets and two in the remaining two turrets. There are three guns in each of the Pennsylvania's turrets, which are placed two forward and two aft.

The Wyoming is 554 feet long, the Oklahoma is 575 feet, and the Pennsylvania is 600. The Wyoming has two twenty-one-inch submerged torpedo tubes, whereas the Pennsylvania, like the vessels of the Oklahoma type, has four twenty-one-inch torpedo tubes.

The Arizona, building at the New York navy yard, is a sister ship of the Pennsylvania, but will not be ready for her trial trips until several months after the Pennsylvania is ready to be turned over to the government. It is expected that the Pennsylvania, Oklahoma and Nevada will all be added to the fleet at about the same time. This will necessitate an almost complete realignment of the first line vessels.

The Oklahoma and the Nevada, New York, Texas and present fleet flagship Wyoming are expected to compose the first division, the second division being made up of the Arkansas, Utah, Florida, Delaware and North Dakota, which will give the Atlantic fleet, for the first time in its history, two complete divisions of dreadnaughts.

Not the Real Thing.

"You needn't get the idea," bawled one Irishman to another, "that just because you have a flannel mouth, you can pull the wool over my eyes!"

Disciplinary Value of Football.

"Really, Mr. Hawkins," said Jimpsonberry, as Hawkins laughed loudly at the sight of his son being knocked out on the football field, "I don't see how you can laugh at such a moment as this." "Perhaps you can't Jim," said Hawkins, "but if you knew my son Bill you'd understand. I've felt for ten years that he needed a good, stiff kicking, but he's such a busting big youngster that I haven't dared give it to him myself."

GRAVE THE HAVEN OF HOMELESS MAN

Wandering Jew Would Not Be Accepted In Any Country.

ON SEAS FOR TWO YEARS.

After Making Fortune In Brazil He Came Here, Was Swindled, and Then His Best Friend Stole His Wife—Became Public Charge, Was Deported, but Finally Allowed to Land.

A grave in the Mount Richmond cemetery on Staten Island ended the wanderings of Nathan Cohen, "the man without a country." The man, whom a long series of misfortunes made old before he had reached his thirty-seventh year, died in Green Farms, Conn., after a career that contained dramatic elements recalling the tale of the Wandering Jew.

Four years ago he came to this country with savings of $5,000 accumulated in Brazil and put his little fortune into a business at Jacksonville, Fla. After he had been swindled out of the money his wife eloped with his best friend. While searching for her in Baltimore he began to act strangely and was taken to an insane asylum there.

He was ordered deported to Brazil under the alien act, which makes it obligatory for the company that brings an immigrant here to return him to the country from which he emigrated if he becomes a public charge within three years of his landing. The Lamport and Holt liner Vasari took him to Rio de Janeiro, but the officials there refused to permit him to land. Efforts to leave him in other countries met with similar failure, and he was refused re-entry here when the vessel returned to the United States.

On Sea For Two Years.

For two years he roved the seas on the Vasari, traveling 33,740 miles on his original steerage ticket, which cost him $15. It began to look as if Nathan was destined to be one of the permanent fixtures of the ship, when in March of last year he was brought back once more to this country.

Then the Knights of Pythias, whom he had joined while in Jacksonville, and the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid society took up his cause. Attorney William Grossman, grand chancellor commander of the Pythians in New York state, and former Judge Leon Sanders had his case taken to Washington, where it was represented that he was born in Russia and should be returned there.

On a bond of $500 furnished by the Hebrew society, guaranteeing that he would be sent to Russia after the war if his birth there could be proved, Cohen was allowed to land on March 29. He was sent at the expense of his benefactors to the Connecticut sanitarium, from which his body was shipped for burial in a plot belonging to the Hebrew Free Burial society.

A Missionary at Home.

I never have any time now except in the afternoon, when my energies run rather low from the exertions of the morning. In the evenings my room will be full of people—women and the schoolboys—who come to talk with me or to sit quietly in the pleasant lighted room. I sit and sew in my steamer chair, and all the time, my dears, 'here is the effort to pass the barriers of kind. We were talking so last night—about the common uses of life—when a certain young fellow who had been listening with a sad attention, leaned his head on his hand with a kind of sad weariness and said directly to me, across the heads of the others and the current of our talk—across my effort and his effort—"How we differ!" I cannot tell you how much there was of barked endeavor and of relinquishment in his eyes; because, you see—and he saw, better than you can—the difference is so much to his disadvantage.—Baltimore American.

Origin of Money.

History does not tell us where the idea of money originated. The precious metals were employed in barter before the dawn of history. In the oldest ruins of civilized people bits of metals are found with an imprint of the ruler. They had banking three thousand years ago, when bills of lading were graven on bricks.

"Dorr's Rebellion."

From 1663 the people of Rhode Island had lived under a charter granted by Charles II, according to which only those owning a certain amount of property could vote. A desire to change this provision arose and in 1841 two parties were in the field, the "Suffrage" and the "Law and Order." Each party determined to control affairs. Each elected its own state officers. Thomas W. Dorr was chosen governor by the "Suffrage" party. He took possession of the state arsenal. The militia was called and he was forced to flee. In a second attempt the party was downed by United States troops and Dorr was arrested, convicted of treason and sentenced to life imprisonment, but soon was pardoned. This was Dorr's rebellion. A free constitution was adopted by the people while Dorr was imprisoned.

MISSING 23 YEARS, HE RETURNS RICH

FALL INJURED HIS MEMORY

On Recovering He Was Ashamed to Write, but Prospered and at Last Decided to Return—Found Wife and Two Grown Children—Happy Family Reunion Results.

Frederick C. Prange was reunited with his family at Stamford, Conn., the other day after having been given up as dead for twenty-three years. When he went away he was poor. He comes back rich and with a story as strange as a moving picture scenario.

Prange was in business in a small way in Stamford in 1893. He had lived there all his life and was well known and highly respected. Prange lived with his wife and two children—Elita, eighteen, and Charles, twenty—at that time in a comfortable home.

In the fall of that year the wanderlust seized him. He believed a fortune awaited him in the west. Finally he answered the call, telling his family that he would communicate with them later.

Months passed and they heard nothing. The months lengthened into years, and still no tidings came. Advertisements were inserted in newspapers all over the country without avail. Then the conclusion was forced upon the family that Prange was dead. He was mourned as such.

Suffered Partial Aphasia.

Meantime Prange was encountering strange experiences. He went first to Chicago, then to Denver. In Colorado he became interested in gold mining and started to prospect. He was so engrossed in his surroundings that he forgot to write home.

One day while riding along a lonely trail his horse stumbled and threw him on his head. For weeks he was in a hospital with brain fever. When he finally emerged he suffered from partial aphasia. His mind for months was a blank.

It was a long time before Prange fully recovered. Then, ashamed to write home, he plunged farther into the west. He took up mining in California and prospered.

Within the past few years his activities have centered about Los Angeles, where he made a fortune. Still he delayed writing to his family. He believed his wife and children dead. Then came a longing to know. He decided to go east.

Prange arrived in New York. So sure was he that his family was dead that he went at once to the family burying plot in the Hackensack (N. J.) cemetery. No new graves were there. He then visited a brother-in-law, William Huyler, in New York and from him learned that his wife and children were still in Stamford. The daughter is Mrs. Henry J. Fleck, wife of a photographer there. She now has a daughter as old as was Prange's daughter when he went away. The son is Dr. Charles Prange, a prosperous dentist.

The wife, son and daughter were communicated with, and all three hurried to New York. Prange met them, and the reunited family went to Stamford.

Prange is sixty-nine years old, and his hair is white. He proposes to dispose of all his interests in California and will spend the remainder of his days in Stamford, which he left so long ago.

ELECTRICITY FROM THE AIR.

Kansas Man Gets It, but What Is He Going to Do With It?

For two years Harry Perrigo of Kansas City, Mo., has been striving to draw electricity out of the air. He can get the currents all right. The trouble is that he can't take care of the power after he gets it.

The other day the inventor was knocked unconscious twice by the strong current and both times a pulmonator brought him to. Later he took the count again. But Dr. James I. Tyree and the pulmonator soon were on hand, and in an hour Perrigo was at work again.

Perrigo's device resembles a wireless tower connected with a mysterious bread box and numerous wires. He says his machine already has furnished enough power to light an eight room house.

FINDS HEIR TO $400,000.

Son of Oil Man Located After Search of Nine Years.

Keith Edwin Dalrymple, twenty-five years old, who has been sought for nine years as heir to about $400,000 left by his father, a Pennsylvania oil operator, was taken to Charles City, Ia., from the south by Dr. C. M. Palmer.

Dalrymple is a nephew of Mrs. Palmer and when a small boy made his home with the Palmers, but later ran away.

"The boy was located in a southern hospital in February," Dr. Palmer said. "He was in need of attention, and I went to his relief and brought him to our home, where he will be cared for and where he will make his future home."

HOW SWEENEY GOT HIS FRANKFURTERS

Germans Left Basket of Food For American In French Army.

DISPROVED FALSE REPORTS

After Papers Saying That Germany Had No Food Were Given Kaiser's Troops They Took Unique Method of Branding Them as Untrue—Expected Bullets, but Got "Hot Dogs."

Lieutenant Charles Sweeney of the French Foreign Legion returned recently to New York to recover from a wound received during the French offensive in Champagne last September. Sweeney is an American, a graduate of West Point and the son of a former president of the Federal Smelting and Refining company of Spokane, Wash. The following story of a most unusual "Dutch" treat was told by Lieutenant Sweeney to Private Casey, a New York artist, also fighting in the Foreign Legion:

Sweeney is not a Frenchman even though he happens to be in the army service of France. After his graduation he married a Belgian girl and settled down in Paris. His wife and two small children are living in that vicinity at the present time.

"I started out about midnight," said Sweeney, "with a patrol to have a look at a new German bayonet between two fortlets beyond our lines. I strung my men out so as to give warning of any German patrol and then led them past our sentries and the barbed wire. I was some distance ahead of my men and had got well within the German lines without seeing or hearing any thing of the Germans.

Bullets Never Came.

"Now, this was not the first time that I had ever penetrated that far into the German lines, but it was the first time on such a mission that I had not had to dodge a German patrol and very often their bullets. These things ran in my head continually and made me think that I had fallen into a very neat trap which the Germans had laid for me. I expected to see them rise from anywhere any minute and hear the banging of their guns and the whistling of their bullets (if I was lucky enough to hear them, that is), and I began to wish myself well out of my predicament and back again in the comparative safety of our trench.

"This made me more cautious than ever, and presently I began to retreat. As I did so a round German helmet bobbed up out of a ravine not a dozen yards away. An instant later at the other end of the ravine another appeared. I squirmed away like a snake and got behind the only shelter in sight; a little scrubby tree, about three yards away.

"As I lay there quaking, wondering why the Germans did not shoot—for they must have seen me—I happened to look up, and there, hanging to a branch of the tree, was a fat, clean looking basket. I reached up, the limb on which it hung being only a few feet from the ground, and lifted the basket down.

"Then in a flash the explanation of the puzzle was clear to me. The Germans had left that basket there and meant me to have it.

"With the basket on my arm, I got up, bowed low to the round hats and walked back to our trench without ever being fired on.

"Inside the basket was an assortment of frankfurters and other food. There was also a note something after this wise:

Note in Basket.

"We have been in front of you for over a year, and it is not against our comrades, the French, that we are fighting, but against our enemy, the English. Let us join forces against our common enemy. We are not starving, as you may well see from the little present we send you herewith."

"Here was something that set me thinking pretty hard. I had escaped death or capture by a miracle, so far as I could see, and all in order that I might enjoy a hearty meal at the expense of the Germans.

"I set the basket down in the trench and fell to with a will, and I give you my word, Casey, of all the good things I have eaten I never enjoyed anything more than I did that Dutch treat—especially the frankfurters.

"They took me back to the United States immediately—'hot dogs,' the brightness of the sea, the yawping of barkers, crowds passing, the noise of thousands of shuffling feet—not the sort of shuffling we hear now, Casey, when a bugle call or the heavy sound of guns seems the chief attraction. It was a great shame I couldn't save you one.

"The meaning of all this was a puzzle to me until I found out that our boys had left a bundle of American and English newspapers in the spot where I had found the basket, with the paragraphs plainly marked in which it was said the Germans were starving. And the basket was the Germans' reply.

"Now you know how I came to get my 'hot dogs.'"

See the Girl in the Tire?

From a modest beginning the present Kelly-Springfield industry was developed, and while the output has increased over a thousand fold, the tires are still made by hand in the same old careful way.

An electric tractor is used by the Pennsylvania Railroad company to shift cars in the streets of Jersey City. On one of the wheels is a Kelly-Springfield sectional block tire which has seen twenty-two months continual service, during which period three other block type of tires of different makes were worn out; these were gradually replaced by Kelly-Springfield blocks, until now all four wheels are equipped.

MR. AND MRS. M. L. STANLEY ENTERTAINED GIRLS' CLUB

The Neighborhood club was most delightfully entertained Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray L. Stanley on North Ridgewood avenue, in the form of a farewell to the Misses Daisy and Cecelia Schmadeke, popular members of the club, who soon take their departure for New Jersey.

The girls enjoyed their card game, the winners of the two highest scores receiving gifts. Each member was the recipient of a beautiful sterling silver souvenir spoon of Daytona with her first name engraved in the golden bowl, the gift of Mrs. Stanley.

A delicious salad supper was served by the hostess, at an artistically decorated table with a centerpiece of beautiful spring flowers. An attractive feature was the place cards, hand-tinted blue birds.

The club, consisting of eight of Daytona's society girls, was organized this winter, and has been a most popular diversion. The young ladies have had a wonderfully good time, each member in turn entertaining the club.

The going away of the Schmadeke girls will be the first break which will be greatly felt, as they were very charming and vivacious, with a host of friends.

DR. HASTINGS H. HART AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Dr. Hastings H. Hart, of the Russell Sage foundation of New York City, visited the Congregational church Sunday morning giving a most interesting discourse to a large congregation.

Dr. Hart is a member of the deputation from the National Council of Congregational churches which is making a tour of the south, visiting the Congregational churches in the various southern cities.

His lecture was very interesting and instructive, dwelling particularly on plans to promote church interest among the people, to increase church going, with topics of vital problems to the average person, rather than sermons upon far-fetched subjects, which neither hold nor enlighten. His talk was much appreciated by his listeners who felt the better for having gone to the church of God.

LINCOLN HALL IS NEARLY COMPLETE

Memorial In Washington to Be Ready by Next Birthday.

COMPRISES FOUR FEATURES

Statue of the Man, Memorial of Gettysburg Speech and of Second Inaugural Address and a Symbol of the Union of the United States Stand Out Prominently.

Work on the construction of the Lincoln memorial in Potomac park, a remarkable structure that is to serve as a monument to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. In accordance with an act of congress approved Feb. 9, 1911, is progressing rapidly. Residents and visitors to Washington are beginning to realize what a great addition the structure will be to the beauty spots of the capital city.

On the great axis, planned over a century ago, at one end is the capitol, the monument of the government, and to the west, over a mile distant from the capitol, is the monument to Washington, one of the founders of the government. The Lincoln memorial, on the same axis, still farther to the west, completes an unparalleled composition.

Four Features of Memorial.

The Lincoln memorial comprises four features—a statue of the man, a memorial of his Gettysburg speech, a memorial of his second inaugural address and a symbol of the Union of the United States, which he stated it was his paramount object to save—and which he did save. Each feature will impress the beholder with its greatest force by means of its isolation, though this isolation is not planned to the extent of impairing the relation of each feature to the others.

The statue of Lincoln is the most important object, and it will be placed in the center of the memorial. This portion where the statue is placed is unoccupied by any other object that would detract from its effectiveness.

The smaller halls at each side of the central space each contain a memorial. The inaugural and Gettysburg speeches will be shown by bronze letters arranged on a monument tablet and adjacent low reliefs will relate in allegory Lincoln's great qualities evident in these speeches. These memorials, although they can be seen from any part of the hall, are partially screened from the central portion where the statue is placed by means of a row of Ionic columns.

Colonnade Symbol of Union.

Surrounding the walls inclosing the memorials is a colonnade, forming a symbol of the Union, each column representing a state—thirty-six in all—for each state existing at the time of Lincoln's death, and on the wall appearing above the colonnade and supported at intervals by eagles are forty-eight memorial festoons, one for each state existing at the present time.

Foundation on Bedrock.

By means of terraces the ground at the site of the memorial is raised until the floor of the memorial itself will be 45 feet higher than the present grade. First a circular terrace, 1,000 feet in diameter, is raised 11 feet above the present grade, and on its outer edge will be planted four concentric rows of trees, leaving a plateau in the center 755 feet in diameter, which is greater than the length of the capitol. In the center of this plateau, surrounded by a wide roadway and walks, rises an eminence supporting a rectangular stone terrace wall, 14 feet high, 256 feet long and 180 feet wide. On this rectangular terrace rises the marble memorial.

All the foundations of the steps, terraces and memorial are built on concrete piling, which extends down to the solid rock. Three steps form a platform under the columns. This platform at its base is 204 feet long and 124 feet wide. The colonnade is 188 feet long and 118 feet wide, the columns being 44 feet high and 7 feet 3 inches in diameter at their base. The total height of the structure above the finished grade at the base of the terrace is 90 feet. The finish grade at the base of the terrace being 23 feet above the present grade, the total height of the building above the present grade is 122 feet. The outside of the Memorial hall is 84 feet wide and 120 feet long. The colonnade entrance, which is 45 feet wide and 44 feet high, is equipped with sliding bronze grilles, filled with plate glass.

The central hall, where the statue stands, is 60 feet wide, 70 feet long and 60 feet high. The halls where the memorial of the speeches are placed are 57 feet wide, 57 feet long and 60 feet high. The interior columns are of the Ionic order and are 50 feet high.

The cost of erecting the memorial is $1,775,000. This estimate does not include the steps at the head of the lagoon, the statue of Lincoln, the memorials of his two speeches or the architect's commission.

Neglected Duty.

There is one duty that human beings conspicuously neglect. It is a tremendously important duty. And it is also, for most human beings, the most attractive duty in the world. Nevertheless, in spite of its attractiveness and its importance, it is seldom spoken of. There are millions of people who don't recognize it as a duty. So they neglect to strive for it. Then they wonder why they have not achieved the duty. Sometimes they complain, bitterly. Occasionally, by a chance, they do achieve the duty without recognizing it as a duty. Then they neglect it, and they suffer for the rest of their lives. Surely you know what the duty is. It is simply the duty of being happy.—New York Telegram.

BREAD WRAPPER LAW NEEDS ENFORCEMENT

PENINSULA HOUSEWIVES LOOK OUT FOR GENERAL COMMUNITY HEALTH AND REQUEST THAT LAWS BE ENFORCED.

The housewives and others of the Peninsula who are always looking out for the interests of the community as a whole, desire to call the attention of all bakeries, delicatessen shops and other stores offering bread for sale, to the town ordinance demanding the use of sanitary wrappers for the loaves.

The Sans Souci club, an organization of ladies, which continually works for the betterment of the Peninsula towns submit the following copy of the town law for publication: "Ordinance No.—, Section 1. No person, or persons, firm or corporation within the corporate limits of the Town of Daytona Beach, shall sell, or offer to sell, or expose for sale, or have in their possession with intent to sell, any bread unless same is securely wrapped and sealed in oil or paraffin paper.

Section 2. Whoever shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance or shall fail to immediately comply with the provisions of this ordinance, shall be liable to a fine of not more than fifty (50) dollars, or imprisonment of not more than thirty (30) days or both, in the discretion of the mayor."

The enforcement of this ordinance would be of benefit to every family in Daytona Beach and Seabreeze. The members of the Sans Souci club and others desire to see steps taken in that direction immediately.

His Debauch.

"Emmett Whillikens just nacherly prized up heck while his wife was away, didn't he?" "Gosh, I should say so!" replied a prominent citizen of Petunia. ONLY TWO CASES IN MAYOR'S COURT THIS MORNING

In the mayor's court this morning Joe Raing and his wife, Missouri, both colored, were charged with disorderly conduct by fighting. Missouri Raing proved she was worthy of the name, and was successful in showing Judge Titus she was innocent, but her husband was not so fortunate and was fined 4.00 and costs of $1.00.

Jesse Gaines was charged with riding a bicycle without a light, but failed to put in an appearance. His bond of two dollars was forfeited.

MRS. E. H. HARRIMAN GIVES

PICTURE TO ART GALLERY
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Mrs. E. H. Harriman, of New York, has presented to the National Gallery of Art, in this city, a portrait of Abraham Lincoln, painted by George Story. Accompanying the gift is a letter from the widow of the late railroad magnate, expressing deep interest in the National gallery. The Lincoln portrait was executed by Mr. Story from the distinct recollections he had of the president when he met him at the White House in 1861.

UNION SERVICES

Miss A. R. Kummick, Manager Western Union Telegraph Co., Daytona, Fla.:

Dear Madam: As I expect to leave the city early next week, I want to put on record my appreciation of the eminently satisfactory way in which your office has handled my business during the winter. It has never been my privilege to deal with a telegraph office where uniform promptness and courtesy and attention to every detail was shown to the same extent as in the handling of your office. Everybody from the manager down to the messenger boys have been extremely courteous, remarkably accurate and unusually prompt.

My messages have gone through, although sometimes marred by bad penmanship when they could not be type-written, with almost absolute accuracy. Even your messengers have been attentive in the extreme, prompt and always in good humor. This has not been due to giving any tips to them, because, as a matter of fact, all of the messengers have seemed to be young men to whom a tip could not be properly offered. I have thought it only fair to you and to all with whom I have had business relations in your office during the winter, to express my appreciation in this way.

I am taking it for granted that your office reports to Jacksonville, and I am sending a copy of this letter to the superintendent of the Western Union office there.

Will you kindly do me the favor to pass this word of appreciation to all who have been in the office and who have handled my business during the winter. I understand some of them have left the city.

Yours very truly,
 RICHARD H. EDMONDS, Editor.

"POOR LITTLE PEPPINA"
AT THE CRESCENT TODAY

If there have even been any doubts as to the versatility of Mary Pickford, the Famous Players Film company's star will dispel them by her wonderful performance in that company's splendid production of Kate Jordan's "Poor Little Peppina." Following upon her last Paramount picture, "Madame Butterfly," in which she so perfectly characterizes the little Japanese girl, Miss Pickford, in this production, creates a character new to her admirers.

Peppina is a difficult role because it requires the most careful of treatment in order to preserve the idea of the real American parentage of the girl whose correct name is Lois. Though it must be perfectly feasible for Peppina to pass herself off as an Italian, still she must not make her transposition to Americanism too sudden when her identity is established.

"Poor Little Peppina," by Kate Jordan, is a romance of adventure in which a small child is kidnapped by Italians in revenge for the jailing of one of their number by the testimony of her father. Handed over to some Sicilians to be reared as a member of their family, with instructions to work her hard, she escapes to America as a stowaway in order to avoid embarrassment, Peppina, as she is called by her captors, cuts off her hair and dresses as a boy.

Arrived in New York, she has many adventures as a "newsie," a "boot-black," "fruit vender" and "messenger boy." While employed in an opium den she encounters her old enemies who stole her when she was a baby. Escaping from the den after learning that these men are in search of her, she is able later to prevent them from killing the man whose kindness to her has won her love.

"Poor Little Peppina," is a big thrilling story which abounds in heart interest and suspense, with here and there a hearty laugh as Mary Pickford struggled with the difficulties of her first cigarette and her general initiation into boydom.

In support of Mary Pickford there appear such well known players as Edwin Mordant, Eugene O'Brien, Antonio Maiori, Ernesto Torti, Cesare Gravina, Francesca Guerra, and W. T. Carleton. It is interesting to note that several of the principal parts in this production are actually played by Italians. It is consistent with the efforts of the Famous Players to make their productions as authentic in presentation as possible.

This startling feature film will be presented to patrons of the Crescent theatre today, April 3 and will be shown at the Crystal theatre, tomorrow, April 4.

GETS TROUSERS FOR FOE.

British Air Man Who Lost His Gets New Pair Through German Courtesy.
 A new illustration of the amenities of warfare as observed by hostile air men is given in a letter from a German aviator on the western front.

This aviator participated in a combat in which a British aeroplane was shot down and one of the aviators killed. The second was uninjured in person; but, in landing, his trousers were irreparably damaged.

The survivor, the German letter writer says, was so distressed that the German aviator mounted an aeroplane and dropped a note into the British lines. An hour later an English flyer appeared, returning the call, and dropped a bundle containing new trousers for his compatriot.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Pat Cassidy purchased a new automobile, and while still inexperienced in the handling of it he drove down one of the crowded thoroughfares of the city. Coming to a crossing where traffic was held up, he lost control of the car and ran squarely into a handsome limousine. The crowd which gathered found the situation amusing, and to add to Pat's discomfort, the crossing policeman, a big Irishman, commenced to berate him. "Since when did you learn to drive a car?" demanded the officer. "What's yer name?" "Cassidy," answered Pat. "So?" said the policeman, interestedly. "And where are you from?" "County Clare," said Pat. "Say," said the cop, "how the devil did that fellow sack into you?"—Chicago Journal.

WITNESSES TELL OF VILLA'S ATTACK, WHICH SURPRISED FORCE ON THE BORDER

Lieutenant's Wife Describes How Her Husband Killed a Dozen of the Mexican Outlaws.

Bare Handful of Men Bravely Chased the Bandits Far Into Mexico, but No Battle Resulted.

WITH every officer in the war department busily engaged in carrying out the mobilization of large military forces on the Mexican border and with several detachments of cavalry already in the troublesome little republic seeking Pancho Villa, interest of the American public has been transferred from Verdun and other European battlefields to our own country.

All American officers agree that it is no easy task to "get" Villa. He is a big fox, in a great many respects like Huerta, who caused so much trouble in Mexico. But Huerta in all his reign never did anything as brutal and savage as Villa's attack on the little town of Columbus, N. M.

The bandits knifed every sentry to death and thus effected, undetected, entry into the heart of Columbus, ac-house, and a Villista threw his rifle in his face. Evidently his husband's sudden appearance frightened the Mexican, for, although he was at very close range, he fired his rifle, and the bullet passed over Mr. Castleman's shoulder. Mr. Castleman then turned the guard out. Then he turned out Troops F and H. Meanwhile the camp had been aroused. But Villa's men were already there. Some of the soldiers were killed before they got their guns.

Lieutenant Fought Barefoot.

"Lieutenant J. P. Lucas, in command of the machine guns, fought barefoot. The battle was in the dark, and only two men could get to Mr. Lucas. One of these, a sergeant, was killed. Mr. Lucas had only himself and another man, and in the dark he must have put ous," said Mr. Childs, "when we heard the firing and saw the smoke from the burning village. The engineer brought it to a stop, and we waited in the train. Not a person had a gun, and a number of women and children were aboard. We had been somewhat fearful of a raid for a number of miles while we were going through that country."

Mr. Childs said that they could distinctly hear the crashing of the machine gun, and then it suddenly stopped, and he later learned that it had jammed.

"Later on we saw the bandits leaving," he said. "First a few appeared, and these rode away in flight, followed by ever increasing numbers, and we then realized that they were retreating, and I can tell you there was a general sigh of relief when we saw the Villistas fleeing and about a mile behind them a mere handful of our own troops."

Anxious to Get Away.

"There was little firing from our men. They rode with grim determination, but the bandits constantly turned and fired. Their shots were occasionally answered by our men, who rode in good order, like a well oiled piece of machinery. I thought several times what would happen if the bandits should turn and give fight to our troops, who seemed to be about sixty in number. But the Mexicans were evidently only too anxious to get away, and finally we saw them disappear with our boys in close pursuit."

"When we finally pulled into Columbus I saw at least fifty bodies lying about and went at once and saw Colo-

STRICT RULES OF ARMY CENSORS

Funston Wants Only a Few Newspaper Men With Army, TO EXAMINE ALL PICTURES.

No Movie Men Allowed With Invading Forces and None but Real Reporters Permitted to Accompany Expedition. Violators of Rules Liable to Arrest. Personal Communications Read.

General Funston has decreed that only a few war correspondents shall accompany the American forces into Mexico.

Secretary of War Baker has upheld the decision of General Funston, but strong pressure is being brought to bear on him to throw open the doors.

The degree of censorship imposed by General Funston so far has been mild compared to that he can exercise under the army regulations. It is prescribed in the regulations that censorship within the theater of operations is controlled by the commander of the field forces. An officer is assigned as censor and provided with necessary assistants.

Stops Public and Private News.

Censorship includes censorship over private communications and over press publications and communications.

All private communications, whether they be of officers, soldiers, foreign attaches, newspaper correspondents or any other individuals, dispatched from the theater of operations are liable to censorship. A censor is authorized to suppress any statement that might be of value to the enemy or prejudicial to the welfare of the forces in the field.

All newspapers or journals in the theater of operations are subject to censorship, and they can be suppressed by the censor whenever he deems it expedient.

Each correspondent is required to file an application giving a brief history of his career and to take an oath of loyalty of the usual military form. Their employers are required to give bond for them. Men who have evidently secured credentials with a view to adventure rather than serious work as correspondents will not be received, and the secretary of war has power to say to whom passes shall be given.

The regulations provide that an official photographer shall accompany each field army or other important independent field force. His films and plates will be sent to Washington promptly, where prints will be issued at a nominal cost to the press. No professional photographers and moving picture men will be received.

Regular correspondents may carry small hand film cameras, but the films must be sent to the censor with the field forces or to the chief censor at Washington, where they will be developed and such of them as pass censorship will be sent to any given address.

The chief censor in Washington shall be a commissioned officer. In this instance he is Captain Coates, attached to the general staff. There is also a censor attached to General Funston's headquarters, and General Pershing will also have a censor in the field. All correspondents' news or private dispatches, mail letters for publication, private letters, drawings and photographs must be submitted to the censor and receive his stamp before being sent.

The correspondent will not be allowed to send information concerning the occupation or relinquishment of a position, the news of any victory or defeat, the names of organizations or commanders, the disposition of troops, the state of supply or transport, the number of sick, the extent of losses or any other matters of information unless the dispatch or report containing such information is passed on and authorized by the censor. After censorship the correspondent will be shown what if anything has been elided by the censor. Any relaxation of these regulations rests with the commander of the field forces, in this case General Funston.

Liable to Arrest.

The official army telegraph lines are open to correspondents for the sending of dispatches when not occupied with official dispatches, but the dispatches will be sent in the order filed, and the censor shall say how many words may be sent. Within the censor's discretion correspondents may send messengers to carry censored dispatches to better wire facilities than those at the immediate front.

Correspondents are required to dress in the same olive drab uniform worn by the army, but each wears a white brassard on his arm marked with a 'C' to designate his calling. No correspondent can leave the army to which he is attached, either to go home or any other place, without the consent of the war department.

Correspondents can be suspended for distortion of dispatches in the office of publication and also for the use of language or expressions conveying hidden meaning which would tend to deceive or mislead the censor. For extreme offenses they may be sent to the rear under arrest.

FOUR RULES FOR WIVES GIVEN BY ONE WHO KNOWS

"See a Lawyer if Husband Gets Pious Postal Card," She Says.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carey, buxom, brunette and dressed in black, laid down four rules for wives in the trial of her $50,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Minerva E. Toler, both of New York. They are:

When a husband, hitherto inattentive to niceties of attire, develops a keen interest in the latest styles for men watch him.

When he goes to the theater without his wife and returns home very late get suspicious.

When he gives unsatisfactory replies to legitimate inquiry as to his movements ask who the other woman is. And when the mail brings anonymous religious sentiments meant for the wife's eyes and to "throw her off the track," consult a lawyer.

These were the four stages of her own experience, Mrs. Carey told Justice Philbin and a jury. Patrick Carey, the handsome husband from whom she says she acquired this education in the ways of men, was superintendent of an apartment house.

Mrs. Toler, defendant in the alienation suit, is the wealthy widow of John Watts De Peyster Toler. Her defense is that she did not know Carey was married.

Mrs. Carey and her husband lived happily together for twenty-four years, the wife testified. Then she noticed a cooling of Carey's affections.

Mrs. Carey learned that her husband had met Mrs. Toler at a theater.

Her husband told her there was no evil in his acquaintance with Mrs. Toler because religious inscriptions marked their correspondence.

GOMPERS ON TEACHERS' PAY.

Labor Leader Says Hod Carriers Make More Money Than Teachers.

"The hodcarrier gets more wages than you do. Your professional spirit perhaps puts you above the hodcarrier."

and apparently gives you a feeling of superiority. You are the poorest paid and least considered of all our public servants."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made this declaration to a meeting of teachers in the De Witt Clinton high school in New York. They were gathered to make the first definite move to form a union.

Every teacher in Greater New York received a pamphlet appealing for support of the proposed organization. The book asserts the antagonism of the board of estimate to teachers and urges immediate action in forming the union. It has been proposed that the new union affiliate itself with the American Federation of Labor. The name suggested is American Teachers' Protective association.

President Gompers took exception to a statement that if the teachers organized they would be subject to sympathetic strikes to help metal workers and other organized labor unions.

"There is no sympathetic strike agreement in our labor movement," said Mr. Gompers. "No power in labor can compel a sympathetic strike. The first duty of the teacher is toward the child. Another duty is toward himself or herself."

Clinics for Criminals.

Clinics for criminals are becoming recognized as a valuable adjunct to the city courtroom. Physical defects are frequently responsible for the perpetration of crime, and remedial measures may bring about a complete moral change. In Chicago a persistent offender was recently examined by the psychopathic institute connected with the Cook county juvenile court. He was found to be suffering from severe, but unsuspected, eye strain. When his eyes were treated and he was provided with congenial occupation, his criminal tendencies ceased. A habitual drunkard in Cleveland, who had been sent to prison 93 times in 30 years, was recently given a thorough physical examination, resulting in an operation for a dental disease of long standing. His tendency to drunkenness and disorderly conduct has not been manifested since.

1—UNITED STATES CAVALRY STANDING OVER DEAD MEXICAN. 2—RUINS IN COLUMBUS, N. M. 3—AMERICAN INFANTRY AT COLUMBUS. 4—RIFLES CAPTURED FROM MEXICANS.

According to Mrs. James Pryor Castleman, wife of Lieutenant Castleman, who, as officer of the day, repelled the invaders.

Mrs. Castleman's account of Villa's attack on the sentries is the first explanation offered from any source as to how the invaders got into Columbus without arousing either soldiers or citizens.

She saw Pancho Villa and Pablo Lopez, his chief lieutenant, standing in front of her house, she said. Until Lopez fell she had her pistol ready to fire if either tried to enter her house.

All Houses Surrounded.

Finally Villa mounted his horse and by circling among the houses escaped. The house of every officer was surrounded, as also were the homes of leading citizens, she said.

Mrs. Castleman is of the opinion that her husband killed a dozen or more Mexicans with his own revolver.

"At 4:30 o'clock I heard the most awful shooting. Bullets just rained on our house. I put my children under their bed and got my pistol, for I said they would not take me alive and I certainly would get some of them if they came in."

"An awful half hour followed, in which I heard nothing but shots and shouts: 'Viva Villa! Death to Americans!'"

"Villa cut a fence and came in between the Gibsons' ranch and the gate. He killed all sentries with knives and shotguns. Then he set their horses free."

His men were right in the city and anybody knew it, and my husband's shot was the first warning shot. Castleman stepped out of the a charge in wrong, for the gun jammed. The second machine gun worked properly.

"Mr. Castleman, who was in the Philippines and participated in many battles, said he had been in many tight places, but that this was the worst of all. The Mexicans outnumbered us six to one at least, and I don't see how we won, except that the Mexicans are cowards and because of their bad aim. The Mexicans all shoot high. All of the marks on my house—and it is full of bullets and bullet holes—are high. Our men all hit below the belt, as we could see from the dead Mexicans in the street."

Saw Men Shot Down.

"The battle raged right in front of our gate. Six Mexicans were killed there. I think Mr. Castleman got twelve or more."

"Only sixty-five men, by actual count, followed the bandits into Mexico. There were 500 or more Villistas. I went out into the streets shortly after 7:30 o'clock. The horrible things Mexicans had done and the more horrible things they had tried to do had changed me. I saw Mexicans dead and Mexicans suffering and was unaffected."

"Mrs. Slocum, the colonel's wife, who is one of the gentlest, sweetest women in the world, said, 'I don't understand it, but I haven't any feeling over seeing these men suffer.' Every woman was changed. They had lost all feeling. They had no sympathy, no pity."

John Lewis Childs, a former New York state senator, who has just returned from the southwest, tells of his experiences at Columbus just after Villa made his attack.

"Our train was approaching Columnel Slocum. He said that his force numbered about 350 men, while those of the bandits were at least 2,000.

"As soon as the firing began the bandits rode through the town and shot to kill whenever they saw any one appear at a window or door. A general attack seemed directed at the home of United States Customs Collector Riggs. He had his house barricaded, however, but there were thousands of shots all over the building."

"Mrs. Riggs had her baby in her arms. A nursing bottle was shot from its mouth, but the child was uninjured. Mr. Riggs put the baby and its mother on our train and joined the troops in their pursuit of the bandits."

"The people of the town were certainly brave in their predicament, and not one of them showed the slightest terror. When we left every man and boy in the town large enough to hold a gun was forming a company to repel any other attack that might be made."

Woman Held Nine Days.

Mrs. Maud Hawk Wright, an American woman who said she was held captive by General Villa for nine days and was liberated in the midst of recent fighting, declared that Villa announced on March 1 his intention to attack Columbus and proceeded north under forced marches to carry out his purpose. His men, with scant supplies of water and meat, suffered severely, she said, and many dropped from their horses on the march to Boca Grande.

Villa, she declared, ruled them by fear, and his officers with the flats of their swords beat the soldiers into submission sufficient to reach that point, where they rested.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING CONTINUES AT VERDUN

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, April 3.—Terrific fighting took place throughout last night on the Vaux-Douaumont front at Verdun, it is officially announced.

The Germans are attempting to make further progress in Caillette Woods, but latest official reports indicate that counter attacks by the French are throwing back the German forces.

The indications are that the Germans are resolved to batter their way to Verdun on the east bank of the Meuse. No infantry engagements occurred on the west bank of the Meuse last night.

OFFICIAL CREDITS REPORTS OF CANO CAVALRY JOINING VILLA

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 3.—War department officials credit the reports that Colonel Cano has joined Villa with 900 Carranza cavalry. While no official advices have been received, the move had been expected. Many officials believe that Cano's forces were with Villa when they were defeated by the Americans at Guerrero.
